Greetings Members and Friends,

Summer has slipped away and now we are into fall with all the lovely colours. Mind you, I am like most and don’t appreciate raking all those leaves though. Halloween is upon us, next is Remembrance Day, remembering both our Veterans and our Fallen. Then it is Winter and Christmas. Some of you may be going south to meet up with the rest of our Canadian Snowbirds, while the rest of us endure the cold. Whatever your plans are, I hope you have a safe but wonderful time.

As you go through this newsletter mark your calendars, as all our meetings have been planned out, but we are seeking members to join us as a Guest speaker and tell us your family story, or what it took to achieve your UE Certificate.

I hope you have been writing things down for your UE family story for our 2014 Anniversary project. The deadline for submissions has been extended to December 15th so that our new book committee can edit and publish the book. These stories will be published for all to read, hopefully in time for our 2014 September Luncheon.

Bicentennial Branch United Empire Loyalists
General Meeting
September 21 2013
Judith Girty UE, Secretary

We opened with the President’s welcome, the Royal Anthem, Toast to the Queen and the Blessing. Forty three persons attended the luncheon.
Linda introduced the current executive for those who are new to the branch. We are seeking persons to take over the duties of “grants” currently held by Margie Luffman, and the Vice Presidents position is unfilled as well. Linda announced the silent auction table.
Presentation of Certificates
Kathryn Hogan and Stephen Botsford announced the presentations of 17 certificates to 14 persons. Ten were in attendance. Nine different ancestors were represented.
In the order of receipt of application they are: Atticus Sabatino Conte (2), Elizabeth Diane Freeman, Lynn Girty, Greg Girty, and Sarah Girty. Sharron McDonald accepted for Hugh Ryland Elstone and Erica Jane Elstone, Howard Milton Johnson. Certificates for Lenore E. Lake and Janet P. Post were previously delivered to Simcoe. M. Stephen Botsford (3), Kathryn Lake Hogan, Samuel David Hogan, and Matthew Isaiah Hogan.

Ruth Nicholson introduced our guest speaker Jean Rae Baxter, who spoke on her research and the history behind her latest of 3 loyalist novels, “Freedom Bound”. The highlights included the significance of Charleston, Savannah, New York, Birchtown, Shelbourn, and mentioned such notables as Martha Washington, Lord Mansfield, Joseph Brant, Lord Simcoe, and the now famous “Book of Negros” of 1781, Yorktown, W. Virginia. Susan thanked our speaker.

Linda thanked the women of the Anglican Church for the exceptional lunch we enjoyed. She announced our new brochure and supplied copies. Susan supplied Membership Renewal Forms for 2014. Linda mentioned the areas in need of volunteer assistance: outreach/education, program chair, phone communications, and social committee. A reminder went out that Earline is awaiting more submissions of loyalist stories for our booklet with a November deadline.

We are hoping that in 2014 our own members will share some of their personal ancestral stories at meetings. The next meeting is November 9, 2013, at 1:00 p.m.

September Guest Speaker : Jean Rae Baxter UE

Jean Rae Baxter, member of Hamilton and Bicentennial Branches of the UELAC has published a trilogy of novels about the loyalists and she gave a presentation about her research excursion to Charleston, South Carolina for her latest novel “Freedom Bound”.

Jean told of the journey of the black slave ships to the Americas, with diagrams of the human cargo and how they had to remain for their entire journey.

She also told of the hardships endured after arrival in the slave auctions and the life of the slaves on the southern plantations.

Jean also shared pictures of her trip to South Carolina, the plantation houses that have remained unchanged and the natural habitat as well. It was an interesting and educational presentation about the Antebellum era in the south.

Certificate Presentations

The certificate presentation at the September luncheon was a memorable one, with 17 certificates presented by 3 presenters.

Atticus Sabatino Conte UE's Loyalist Ancestors
submitted by Pauline Baldwin UE

1) Henry Wright, Loyalist b c1750, obtained Lots 76 and 77 New Settlement from the Crown; his daughter Eliza married Matthew Ferriss, their daughter Georgiana Ferriss married Whitson Baldwin; the son of Georgiana and Whitson, Frederick married Clara Morgan; their son Matthew Morgan Baldwin married Frances Jean Craig; their son Thomas married Pauline Deslippe; their daughter Jolayne married Luigi Conte; Atticus born of this union.

Most of the proofs for Atticus came through the female lineage. As I had done this workup sometime ago with Margaret Lewis, things are not remembered as easily as they might have since it is over 10 years ago now.

As for the second certificate for Atticus, it is rather interesting as again this came through the female predominately with John McLean being the first McLean in our area to live in the New Settlement. John McLean, Loyalist, was in Butler's Rangers settled on Lot 60 in 1798 in the New Settlement. The son of John was Thomas McLean who was married to Frances Eede; their daughter Susan McLean married Thomas Craig and their daughter Frances Jean Craig married Matthew Baldwin and in turn their son Thomas married Pauline Deslippe and their daughter Jolayne Baldwin is the mother of Atticus. At the time that I was gathering this information for my children and my two older grandchildren (2003) Margaret Lewis informed me that I was the first person to apply for UEL status through John McLean in the local UEL society.

Message From Diane Freeman UE

I would like to thank Linda Iler for her background information in my ancestral search. I met her and Jo-Anne Jenereaux at H.E.I.R.S. Jo Anne's research skills were a huge asset to me. Other sources were the Marsh Collection and Ancestry.Ca. Many thanks for their efforts go to Stephen Botsford and Kathryn Hogan, Branch genealogists. Additional thanks to Jim and Kathy Dowling for hosting “To the Rafters” at the John Snider Homestead a week before I received my certificate. How rare is it that one gets to visit their 4th great grandfather’s home?

Prairie Regional Conference Highlights
Edmonton
Oct. 4 – 6, 2013

Participating Dominion executive included Regional Councillor and Membership Chair Joyce Lidster, Regional Vice-President Gerry Adair, Senior Vice-President Barb Andrew, and President Bonnie Schepers.

An informative schedule of seminars was planned for Saturday morning with Barb, Joyce, and me each heading up a presentation. I was asked by Gerry to provide an explanation and update on the UELAC process of continuance under the new Canada Not-for-profit Corporations legislation. It was titled UELAC and the CNCA and generated questions and discussion that resulted in a better understanding of the need for change and how it will affect branch representation at Dominion Council meetings.

Barb followed with a talk on the structure of UELAC and the duties and responsibilities that accompany each position within our organization.

Joyce Lidster as Membership Chair provided an interactive session on how to grow our membership.

The Saturday evening gala included both history and entertainment. With the theme of Loyalist Children Then and Now we were treated to a variety of offerings by Edmonton Branch youth members. A highlight was a slide show presentation on the Battle of Crysler’s Farm by Betty Fladager and her two granddaughters. It was my honour to represent the UELAC as President and guest speaker at the banquet.

Saturday afternoon there was free time to explore. We seized the day by visiting the Legislative Grounds where I hugged a tree - the Bur Oak planted in a joint project by Edmonton and Calgary Branch members to commemorate the visit of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II in 2005 and celebrate Alberta's 100th anniversary as a province.

Sunday morning found us at the historic First Presbyterian Church (founded 1881) where we were welcomed by Reverend Harry Currie who opened the service with memories of his childhood growing up on the Loyalist land grant settled by his ancestors.

Thank you for the warm welcome to the Prairie Regional 2013! It was time well spent.

Essex’s Treasure: The Essex and Community Historical Resource Society (“ECHRS”)

It’s an incredible experience to submerge yourself completely in history even if it can only be for an afternoon. Today, I had the distinct pleasure of taking a step back in time by visiting the Essex and Community Historical Resource Society (“ECHRS”). It is a local treasure located in what was formerly The Carnegie Library, 18 Gordon Avenue, Essex, Ontario. See ECHRS’ website @: http://echrs.org/.

The museum holds many wonderful treasures. Though small scale it is filled with a wealth of historical resource records and books about Essex County to wit: many historical Land Deeds predating 1954 including those for the old town of Essex. It has historical Biographies of local families including unpublished family tree collections, local and county genealogical files and prior school year books dating back to 1954. The museum also has a well stocked library of materials regarding local historical associations and organizations including those affiliated with women. In fact, there is a series of books on prior women’s institutes. The Society maintains a diverse set of historical records ranging from historical maps of Essex to Cottam to binders on Essex, Tecumseh, Sandwich South, St. Clair Beach, Maidstone and Colchester North and South. The museum proudly displays a special collection donated by the British United Empire Loyalists (“BUEL”); an Association whose allegiance is completely to Britain. The exhibit was donated by the BUEL for the preservation of British history.

I was extremely impressed with the military collection. There were original Navy, Cadet and Officer Uniforms in mint condition and small scale weaponry including a hand gun, battalion and gas mask. The Museum has a large collection of military photographs. Many are pictures of local Brigades that fought in World War I and II. The museum has a Local Militia Registry containing records of soldiers initially thought to be MIA but whose bodies were ultimately accounted for. The book also contains discharge papers, enlistment papers donated by local soldiers and information regarding local Military casualties. The War book collection contains the Time Life Series on WWI, personal war diaries and a 24 set of WWII Illustrated Encyclopedias. There is also an 18 book collection regarding the history of WWII. The museum has a beautiful tapestry hanging in its office depicting the different divisions of the Royal Services.

Just when I thought I had seen the best of ECHRS we headed to the basement which held greater literary treasures: the works and collection of famous author Robert Louis Stevenson. The books were discovered under the stairs of the Carnegie Library years after the building was dedicated to the Society.

What made the museum tour exceptional was the notion the tour was conducted by its original Founder, Linda Iler. Familiar with many of the artifacts Linda was capable of sharing special information about each and every article. As the original Founder I asked Linda what her hope for the museum was. She shared her hope is improved membership, that more local people take advantage of what the museum has to offer and that the community continue to help her preserve Essex County beyond its’ history. To that end, the Society has a wealth of genealogical information and, in fact, holds workshops for both beginner and advanced geological pursuers seeking to investigate and build their family tree. The workshops are only $5.00 an evening. In fact, more than likely you will find your writer attending an evening or two herself this Fall. If you are an advanced Genealogist you can always bring your documents and have the Society look at what you have so far collected. You may also turn to them when you hit a trouble spot in your own searches. They have the experts on hand.

My afternoon at the Museum was magical. I knew it would be from the moment I entered the building. At the top of the stairs of the entry into the Museum is a painting of Simon Girty. Simon Girty was a rebel much like the American Daniel Boone. As such the painting is there because Simon Girty represents strength and his portrait thus acts as a “protector” of the building. This made the visit seem that much more charming. The gigantic spinning wheel that stood in front of a small window in the museum made me think of the children’s book Rumpelstiltskin. I wondered from the time I entered the museum where it had come from. After just having seen Simon Girty’s portrait it seemed fairy tale like thus the spinning wheel made the trip enchanting. While the wheel did not come from Rumpelstiltskin it did however come from a Woodslee resident. Nonetheless, it made for an incredible visual and a walkway for an imaginative experience. That is the uniqueness of the Essex and Community Historical Research Society. A lot of love and effort has gone into this building and this historical collection and its’ Founder and Essex is very proud of that. Whether a resident of Maidstone, Essex, Colchester, Tecumseh or Woodslee, come visit the ECHRS you are surely to find something that will pique your historical interest.

If enjoying the afternoon in this beautiful building wasn’t enough I was delighted Linda was able to find the name and location of the cemetery of my grandparents. I have been struggling since coming home in gaining that knowledge.

Thank you for a wonderful afternoon, a trip back in time and an historical insight of the beauty of the history of Essex County.

For genealogical classes check the Society’s website for updated information @ www.echrs.org.

Guided tours are also available so if you know of any organizations interested have them contact the ECHRS @ (519) 962-9597.

Debut Book - The Loyalist’s Wife"

When American colonists resort to war against Britain and her colonial attitudes, a young couple caught in the crossfire must find a way to survive. Pioneers in the wilds of New York State, John and Lucy face a bitter separation and the fear of losing everything, even their lives, when he joins Butler’s Rangers to fight for the King and leaves her to care for their isolated farm. As the war in the Americas ramps up, ruffians roam the colonies looking to snap up Loyalist land. Alone, pregnant, and fearing John is dead, Lucy must fight with every weapon she has.

With vivid scenes of desperation, heroism, and personal angst, Elaine Cougler takes us back to the beginnings of one great country and the planting of Loyalist seeds for another. The Loyalist’s Wife transcends the fighting between nations to show us the individual cost of such battles.

A native of Southern Ontario, Elaine taught high school and with her husband raised two children until she finally had time to pursue her writing career. She loves to research both family history and history in general for the
