Generation 1

1. JONATHAN<sup>1</sup> WILLIAMS was born on 01 Aug 1752 in Westchester, New York, USA. He died on 28 Oct 1833 in Woodhouse, Ontario, Canada. He married MARIA OR MARY TITUS on 28 Sep 1782 in Bushwick, Kings County, Long Island, N.Y.. She was born on 01 Sep 1765 in Bushwick Kings County, Long Island N.Y.. She died on 15 May 1850 in Woodhouse, Ontario, Canada.

Notes for JONATHAN WILLIAMS:

Jonathan Williams was commissioned a 1st Lieutenant in the Guides and Pioneers on May 1, 1777. While most of the corps accompanied the main army to capture Philadelphia later that year, Williams and three other officers stayed behind with a detachment of men on duty at Kingsbridge, the northernmost fortification of the British army in New York City.

Jonathan continued at Kingsbridge and the New York area again while the bulk of the corps was a part of the expedition to capture Charleston, South Carolina at the beginning of 1789. He was left in command of a detachment of about fifty men. He would appear to have been mostly involved in recruiting soldiers during the war, as he never left the New York area and may never have been in battle. The corps itself was not so much a combat unit, but an engineer type outfit, although they were armed and did duty as soldiers.

The Guides and Pioneers was a unique corps raised in December of 1776 at New York City. It passed through a succession of commanders, including two foreigners, Captain Andreas Emmerich of Germany, Major Samuel Holland of New York, Captain (Major) Simon Fraser of the 71st Regiment, Col. Beverly Robinson of the Loyal American Regiment and Major John Aldington of New Jersey.

The corps never consisted of more than 500 companies and seldom contained more than 150 men at one time. A large number of the men were from Westchester County, New York, but it included a small number of men from many of the provinces, including the South. Some of the officers and men were also drafted from the New Hampshire Volunteers (Stark's Corps) at Philadelphia in December of 1777.

In Stiles book on the History of Bushwick, pages 280 and 281 is written:

"A battalion of guides and pioneers, composed of three companies were quartered in the town of Bushwick, from 1778 until November 1783. There were a set of notorious villains, collected from almost every part of the county and organized under the command of Captains McPherson, Williams, Van Allen and Purdy. Williams and Purdy were from Westchester county, Van Allen from Bergen County, N.J. and McPherson from the south. This command supplied the British army with guides and spies for every part of the country; and whenever an expedition was organized to attack any place, drafts were made on this battalion. After the peace, these men dared not remain in this country and were not wanted in Britain. Nova Scotia was their only place of refuge and thither they went, where proper provision was made for them by the British authorities."

On page 282 he goes on to say:

"Several estates were confiscated, among which were those of Williams, Rapalje and others; the owners finding it convenient to go to Nova Scotia."

The Regiment served in detachment strength at many of the outposts at New York, as well as in several forays and campaigns. Some were in the Danbury, Connecticut raid of April 1777. Many were on the Philadelphia Campaign of 1777. A large detachment served in the Charleston Campaign of 1780, returning to New York in June of 1780, but leaving a small detachment in South Carolina. Other detachments left for the South under Generals Leslie, Arnold and Phillips. Some were captured at the Siege of Yorktown in 1781.

A number of gentlemen were given commissions in the corps as lieutenants and captains who did not actually serve with the unit. These people had acted in the secret service or in other dangerous ways and had been given commissions to protect them in case of capture, the hope being that commissioned officers were less likely to be hanged as spies. Other officers in the unit acted more as engineers, surveyors and draftsmen. The term "pioneer" is an 18th Century word for military

Sir Henry Clinton, the British Commander in Chief, described the unit in a December 15, 1779 letter to Lord George Germain:

A Body of [Loyalists], whose Age and information with regard to the Country render their active Services desirable, are formed under a Gentleman of most respectable character (Colonel Robinson) into a Corps of Guides and Pioneers. The service of these persons is frequently called for, and is ever cheerfully given; I shall not however disguise to your Lordship that Several Officers are in this Class from whom there is little probability of deriving any advantage. It is often more satisfactory to themselves and excites less jealousy in others, that they be supposed in real Employment and not receiving a bare Eleemosynary Subsidy.

The company commanders of the corps were Captain and later Major John Aldington, Captain Peter McPherson, Captain Samuel Lindsay, Captain Francis Fraser, Captain William McAlpine and Captain Jonathan Williams.

The Corps, consisting of 100 officers and men plus 103 dependents, embarked for the River Saint John on 12 September, 1783 where they were disbanded on 10 October 1783.

A Little Information on Westchester County.

Westchester County covers an area just over 457 square miles.

European exploration of the region began with the voyages of Verrazan in 1524 and Henry Hudson in 1609. Both these explorers were simply looking for a water route to Asia.

The first permanent settlers of Westchester County were Dutch, who in the middle decades of the 17th century, began to occupy the Hudson Valley between their earlier settlements in New Amsterdam (now New York) and Fort Orange (now Albany).

Settlement was sponsored by the Dutch West India Company. It became especially attractive after 1638, when William Kieft was appointed director-general of the Dutch colony and the company liberalized the conditions of colonization, giving anyone the right to hold land, even foreigners. Kieft began acquiring land in what is now Westchester and the Bronx in 1639 and the area soon began to be settled and developed.

The early years found significant difficulty with the Indians and there was intermittent warfare of several years. On August 30, 1645 a general peace treaty was signed between the Dutch and the Indians of the Hudson Valley.

English colonists started to arrive too and they began to push west from the settlements. Large sections of land were leased in what was called "free-hold" manors. There were six manors established in Westchester, Pelham, Fordham, Phillipsburgh, Morrisania, Cortlandt and Scarsdale.

By 1775, Westchester was the richest and most populous county in the colony of New York. It was still almost entirely farmland, dotted with small villages at crossroads and on the waterways. Westchester farmers did not riot over taxes as their Neighbours in the New England colonies did; British markets and protected prices for agricultural products were of more importance to them.

Once the Revolution began, however, Westchester saw more fighting and suffering than any other area in the country. From 1776, when Washington and his troops retreated through Westchester after their defeat on Long Island, until 1783, when the British were finally expelled, the county was a battleground. For Westchester, the Revolution was truly a civil war, as families were often divided between patriot and loyalist sympathies.

After the Battles of Pelham and White Plains, in October 1776, the main American headquarters was at Continental Village, just north of Peekskill. The British headquarters was in New York City. Westchester became the "neutral ground" between the two camps. During the entire course of the war, farmers and townspeople throughout Westchester were subjected to raiding, pillaging and destruction by both British and American irregulars.

The capture of Major John Andre, the British spy, by three Westchester men was an important factor in America's ultimate victory, for it saved West Point, the fortress protecting the Hudson River from seizure by the British. Westchester also saw the French troops commanded by Rochambeau pass along its roads as they came from Rhode Island to help Washington's army defeat the British at Yorktown in 1781.

In 1783, after several years of suffering, Westchester's countryside was devastated and its population depleted. Recovery from the war would take time and hard work.

From Brooklyn New York - A Walk Around Brooklyn, an interactive map

Brooklyn was settled by Europeans as six separate towns: Brooklyn, Bushwick, Flatbush, Flatlands, New Utrecht and Grovesend. Bushwick was founded in 1661 and was one of the original towns of Brooklyn. The original Dutch name, "Boswijck" meant refuge in the woods. Today it encompasses the communities of Bushwick, Williamsburg and Greenpoint.

Pioneer Days in London by C.T. Campbell, Honorary President of the London and Middlesex Historical Society. page 75

"The first lawyer to practice in London was John Tenbroeck. He was of U.E.L. family, originally from Holland. His father captain Jacob Tenbroeck having fought for England in the American Revolution, for which he received a grant of 300 acres in Grantham Township.

John seems to have been a man of considerable ability.

A correspondent in the Ancaster Gazette, under the date of July 31, 1827, given an amusing account of a trial he witnessed in the London Court House. The parties in the case were a little Irish pensioner and a big Yankee from Delaware. The latter had been indulging in the usual "spread eagism", including a little abuse of England. This offended the Irishman, who promptly assaulted the Yankee and by a well directed blow on his mouth, knocked out some of his teeth.

He was defended by Mr. Tenbroeck in an eloquent speech that did not prevent his being found guilty, but his punishment was only five shillings.

Mr. Tenbroeck might have been a good lawyer, but he was a poor financier. He was addicted to the social customs of the times and it was probably this which developed a chronic inability to pay his debts.

In those days, jurors were paid a small fee for their services and a fee (a little larger) went to the judge. It is said that when Mr. Tenbroeck had a case in court, no verdict was given until all fees were paid.

I do not think he ever took up permanent residence in London. In all events he died soon after the court moved here. "

The Men of Norfolk - for the 175th Anniversary of the Burning of Dover Mills

Leaders of the Regiment:

"Colonel Titus Williams, born Long Island, 22 November, 1790, son of Captain Jonathan Williams, of the British Army. Received Ensign's Commission in the second Norfolk Regiment. Volunteered on 27 June 1812, the day of the war's outbreak, appointed Lieut, in Left Flank Company. Commanded a detachment of Norfolk men at Detroit. Became Captain and Adjutant of the 2nd Regiment of Militia at Detroit some time later. Was afterwards captured by Americans on Niagara River, sentenced to be executed, but was liberated in May, 1814. Immediately appointed Adjutant of the 4th Regiments of Militia and was at Lundy's Lane. Then placed in command of the 103rd Regulars at Dover and Ryerse. After the war was appointed Major and then Colonel and retired many years after. He was 86 years of age in 1877. Lord Elgin sent him the following letter: "I have much pleasure in availing myself of the opportunity of expressing to Colonel Titus Williams the high sense I entertain of his services and he is hereby permitted to retire retaining his rank."

The Talbot Regime Chapter XII

"Lieutenant Titus Williams of the 2nd Norfolk, a son of the veteran Captain Jonathan Williams of Woodhouse, has been mentioned as one of those who was of Brock's forces at Detroit in 1812. He accompanied Hull's army, after they became prisoners of war, from Detroit to Fort George. He subsequently served with distinction on the Grand River and Niagara frontier and surprised and took as prisoners thirty Americans under Captain King between Fort Erie and Chippewa, but on June 17th 1813, when endeavoring to secure some buried arms and ammunitions at Sugar Loaf Hill, he with nine privates fell into the hands of the enemy. He suffered many vicissitudes while a prisoner on the other side of the line. He is said to have resented the treatment of himself and other prisoners by seizing an axe and chopping down a Liberty pole, which did not increase his chances of liberty, which nevertheless he subsequently regained, though not before he and other prisoners had been threatened with death to the hands of the American in reprisal for an alleged grievance of theirs against the British. Williams subsequently served as adjutant at Turkey Point and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel."

In the book, Soldiers of the King, Upper Canadian Militia 1812-15, Wm. Gray records on page 283 that Titus Williams, 2nd Norfolk, Lieutenant was taken prisoner by the enemy on May 25, 1813 and removed to the US, and was returned July 9, 1814.

Generation 2 (con't)

He has 44 3/4 acres uncultivated and 25 acres cultivated
As well he has 2 horses and 4 cows.
Living there on that date were one male person over 16
3 females over 16
1 male under 16 and 2 females under 16.

It is interesting, at least from my own perspective, to note the way families in early Ontario, perhaps like so many others, crossed paths.

Sarah Dowling, who married Isaac Williams was the daughter of Dennis Dowling and Mary Edison. Their son, Thomas Dowling married Electa Brown and their descendants formed part of my mother's line (White, Cartwright, McLain).

In 1851 Isaac and Sarah were in Houghton. Isaac was 52, listed as born in the USA and farming. Sarah was born in Nova Scotia and was 45. Their son Francis was 25 and practicing law. Ann Caroline, age 17 ; Titus age 12; Catherine age 10 and John Williams a school teacher age 65 were all living at home. He would be Isaac's uncle.

In 1861 Isaac age 61, farmer, Sarah born Nova Scotia age 55, and children Titus 22; Catharine 20; Eliza J. 11; Isaac 9 and John Williams, 75 school teacher are all living in Houghton. John would be Isaac's older brother.

In 1871 Isaac age 71, farmer and his wife, Sarah 65 are in Houghton Township, Norfolk County, Ontario.

Notes for Sarah Dowling:

Sarah Dowling was the daughter of Dennis Dowling and Mary Edison. The Edison, Dowling and several other families came to Elgin County from Nova Scotia where they first settled for a short time after the Revolution. The Edison and Dowling families were also Loyalists.

Notes for Abraham Brandow:

Abram Brando is listed in the 1851 Census of Charlotteville. He is a blacksmith, and his wife is Maria. In the home at the time appears to be an Emily and a William. Emily is 16 and William is 13.

November 21, 1888 The British Canadian
Obituary W.P. Williams Esq.

Last week I undertook to write sketches of Mr. Daniel Abbott who dropped dead suddenly, on the 25th of October, and now, within a short time I am setting myself to the painful task of preparing a few lines for The Observer and Mr. Abbott's old neighbor and life long friend, Mr. W. P. Williams. They were both natives of Walsingham. Both had settled in the woods at the same time. Both had been successful and by industry and perseverance, had made for themselves and families pleasant homes and both by straight forward dealing, had gained the respect of a great many people.

They had lived about 40 years as neighbors. In many respects they were alike, and a stranger with but little discernment would pick them out in a crowd as men of great energy and determination and fitted by nature to take a leading part in any movement that had the approbation of the people. In politics they differed.

Hundreds will remember with what animation they discussed the merits and demerits of their respective parties. Each considered the other as an "antagonist worthy of this steel". They were both great talkers and neither could readily give himself up as vanquished in an argument.

I should have considered this difference between the two old friends as unworthy of mention, but these lines may be read by those who knew them both, and it might be thought an item for the press, pretending to be a sketch of so staunch a Conservative as Mr. Williams would be lacking interest, in fact hardly worthy of perusal, if no mention were made of the fact that Mr. Williams was born in a Conservative family, and that not one member of that family would hesitate a moment to take up arms, if need be, in defense of the principles advocated by that party of which Sir John Macdonald is the honored leader.

It is not for the information of anyone in Norfolk county that I record the fact that Mr. Williams' father was a military man, that he held the rank of Colonel in the British army, that he was a cousin to that famous soldier and hero, Sir Fenwick Williams of Kars, and that after he settled at Port Rowan he was a Justice of the Peace for many years and greatly respected by all who knew him. All this is well known in Norfolk county, and those who care to know more of him, and what he did for his country may consult our county atlas, in which may be found a well written sketch of the valiant Colonel from the pen of Dr. Wadsworth of Simcoe.

Anyone passing through the pretty settlement which is now called Marston, and which has been the home of Mr. Williams so many years, will admit that in the selection of his farm he showed good judgment. The quality of the land is excellent and far superior to the soil in some other parts of the township. The cultivated farms, the fine orchards, the vast and comfortable dwellings and the sign of thrift to be seen on every hand remind one of the famous Goshen Street a few miles south of Tillsonburg. But all was wild when Mr. Williams first made up his mind to settle here and the great change has been wrought by the untiring exertions of a noble band of workers

To Mr. Williams and a very few neighbors belongs the credit of making a good and passable road through the settlement - over hills which, no doubt, in early times, deterred many a seeker after the location from attempting to make a home in this part of Walsingham. The erection of a commodious chapel is due to their liberality and enterprise and the children of Marston are indebted to the same farseeing men for the neat and well-furnished little schoolhouse and yard which is the pride of the section.

Mr. Williams' fine brick residence lately finished, is admired by all who visit Marston; and he lived to see gratified his lifelong desire to make a respectable dwelling for himself and the loved ones who depended on him.

He was endowed by Nature with a remarkably strong constitution, and like a great many others, he had every day for years, taxed his strength to its utmost capacity and by this means, no doubt hastened his end, and deprived himself of many years of that enjoyment which all of his friends thought was in store for him and to which he seemed so justly entitled as a reward for the toil and worry of a lifetimes.

Industrious himself, he could not tolerate idleness in others, but liked to see everyone about him actively employed. And it may truthfully be said that all the members of his family were so well trained and had been led to entertain so much respect for him that they took willingly the lessons of obedience, industry, sobriety and honesty which he had taught.

The funeral sermon was preached on Friday to a large audience, by Rev. W. H. Treadwell, who referred very touchingly to the time when a church was first organized in the place and Mr. Williams became a member.

Williams Reunion

A gathering of the later W.P. Williams connections, met at the old homestead on the 10th concession, now owned by Mr. Peter Rice, on September 14. The guests began to arrive at 10:30 am continuing throughout the forenoon. They came from Kingsmill (George and Ethelda), Aylmer (Ray, Laura and Clifford), Tillsonburg, Wilsonville and St. Williams. There was a renewal of old friendships and the day being ideal, everyone seemed prepared to make the day a happy one.

One of the most pleasing events was the walk over the farm, listening to the older ones relate the stories of their boyhood days. Memory also carried many back to the days when grandfather and grandmother moved on the farm and hewed them out a home and endured the hardships of those pioneer days. They were also thrilled as they walked over the ground to know it was the same ground which their fathers and mothers had run over with bare feet, getting the cows from the pasture, and doing the many little errands that boys and girls on the farm have to do.

After looking over the farm all gathered for dinner. Tables were spread under some maple trees and 33 sat down. After dinner, the time was spent in social intercourse and some of the older ones called on old neighbors, prominent among whom were Mrs. and Mrs. Edward Leighfield and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crikland. The latter two are quite aged, but their memories were still good and they were able to tell much of the olden days.

Night came all too soon, when all departed to their different homes, feeling they had spent a profitable and happy time together. The gathering was photographed, also two groups of four generations by Mr. L.S. Williams of St. Williams.

Prior to the death of my father, Clifford Morse, he took me to his great grandfather's farm in Marston, where he had visited with his grandfather, George Williams, as a child. Father recalled the little creek that ran through the property and we visited the cemetery where the family is buried.

George Williams and his wife Ethelda Bonser left the Norfolk County area shortly after they married. They in the village of Mapleton. This house was later bought and moved to Ron McNeil Line close to Imperial Road and is now the home and business of a local florist. The family lived in Kingsmill, Elgin County on a farm that backed onto the Michigan Central Railroad. In those days the trains were fueled by coal. One evening there was a fire at the house, believed to have started from a cinder from one of the trains that passed by. The family lost almost everything in this fire.

The 1901 Census of South Dorchester Township in Elgin County lists George W. Williams, born August 29, 1860 - film # T6480

There were only two pieces of furniture apparently saved from the home and a badly burned saber. Family tradition is that this latter item belonged to George's grandfather, Col. Titus Williams. This is now in the care of the Col's 3rd great grandson, my brother, Mark Morse.

In amongst my grandmother's things we found a clipping from a paper, either the St. Thomas Times Journal or Aylmer Express - 1938

Aylmer 7 - Mr. and Mrs George Williams of Kingsmill marked the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary on New Year's Day. Thirty six friends and relatives were in attendance. For the first time in twenty years the family was gathered together and children of the couple who were present were Mrs Laura Morse and Mrs. Carrie Jones of Aylmer, Mahlon Williams, Mrs. Jessie Forseyth, Stanley Williams, and Olive Day of Detroit and Leon Williams of Kingsmill. Two beautiful chairs were presented to the couple as well as many smaller gifts. Mr. J.J. Hill minister of the Church of Christ at Aylmer proposed the toast, wishing them many more years of happiness.

Mr. Williams is 78 years of age and his wife ten years younger. For a time he lived on the 10th Concession of Walsingham, Norfolk County, moving later to south Dorchester living across the road from the Mapleton Church of Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Williams now live in Kingsmill. The event took place at the home of Mrs. Carrie Jones, South Street, Aylmer.

George Williams had an great long mustache that no one could recall him being without. When he died the funeral home shaved his face and to the great shock of the family, cut off his mustache.

George and Ethelda farmed and George dealt in hides that he sold in London, Ontario.

Notes for ETHELDA ANN BONSER:

Ethelda Bonser Williams was a rather petite woman, who I only slightly remember as a child. She died when I was about four years of age. She and her husband, George Williams came to Elgin County shortly after their marriage and remained here until their death.

Grandmother Laura never said a great deal about her parents, but when she did speak of her mother and father it was with great fondness. When Ethelda died it was Christmas morning and grandmother Laura never let the family know until the next day, as she did not wish to spoil the Christmas celebrations of the children and their parents.

Last Sunday morning a Memorial Service was held in the Church of Christ Disciplines in respect of Pte. Leon Williams who was killed in action in France on August 11. Leon was a local boy and well-known in Aylmer. He lived in the Kingsmill district most of his life with his mother Mrs. George Williams. He had been on active service a little over one year and went overseas about six months ago. The memorial service was conducted by Rev. G.W. Garrod of St. Thomas and he was assisted by the local pastor, Rev. W.O. Rees. Rev Garrod spoke of the sterling qualities of Pte. Williams and that the community has lost a fine young man of good character. The Church of Christ was decorated with many beautiful flowers placed there by family and friends. There were also tributes in flowers from friends in Mapleton, Members of the Canadian Legion, Ladies Axillary of the Canadian Legion, friends from Orwell, Kingsmill, and Mapleton and relatives filled the Church to capacity. Mrs. May Smith rendered a solo most appropriate for the services and Bandmaster Alfred Grimes sounded the "Last Post".

Relatives from a distance were Mrs. Morley Forsythe of Detroit MI, Mrs. Fraser Day of Detroit, both sisters of the deceased and Mrs. Charles Williams of Flint MI, a niece.

Clifford, his nephew was overseas at the same time as Leon. Because they were close in age, Leon and Clifford had spent a great of time together. When he returned from overseas he was not aware that Leon was dead and did not learn this until he went to the farm to see him. The shock was something that he spoke of often in later years.

In 1930 the Detroit Michigan Census lists Fraser as a decorator age 39, Olive, his wife, 31, Marian 6, George 4 and Irene 2.

Detroit News April 17, 1933

An unemployed father, who fought through his flame swept flat Easter morning to rescue three sleeping children, two of whom died later, lay critically burned today in Providence Hospital.

Day's wife Olive, awakened by smoke, wrapped an infant, Greta, in a blanket and escaped unharmed from the flat at 5777 Fourteenth Avenue.

Day was burned as he groped his way through a flaming bedroom to rescue his children. His wife suffered slight burns when she ran from the building carrying their 15 month old daughter Greta, who also was slightly burned. Both were treated at the hospital.

Olive had to manage the arrangements for the children without the help of her husband who remained in hospital with burns and a broken wrist. Nine year old Marion was badly burned in the fire and remained in hospital for some time as well.

Fraser Day passed away March 14, 1965 at the age of 64 years. He was born on August 25, 1900 in Thamesford, Ontario and had been a resident of Tucson, Arizona for the past nine years.

Notes for LAURA ETHELDA WILLIAMS:

Laura Ethelda Williams-Morse was born in Elgin County and remained here most of her life. In her late teens she went to work in London. While there she received an invitation to attend the Prince of Wales Ball. The invitation was found amongst her recipes after she died. It is now hanging in her granddaughters hallway, along with the announcement of her brother's (Leon) death in WWII.

From a report in the London Free Press from the Press Clippings file of the day comes this part article.

"The ladies of the drawing room were the first to be presented and one or two really beautiful court bows were made during the ceremony. When it came to the general presentation of the public, however, the bow was abandoned and the people merely passed by. After being presented the ladies in the reserved section returned to their chairs and witnessed the whole proceedings."

This appears from the newspaper articles to have been quite the event, with the prince making a marked impression on the people of London and the region.

No one in the family seemed to know that Laura had been invited and no one knows whether she attended.

Laura and Ray had a double wedding with Laura's sister. They lived for a time in Aylmer and Springwater and then later moved to Richmond with Ray's father, Linwood Lee Morse. Laura was a cook at several establishments in Elgin, including the old inn on the hill in Pt. Stanley, the inn at Pt. Bruce and the Hotel in Aylmer, which was in its day a pleasant place for family dinners.

After the death of her father Laura and Ray cared for her mother until Ethelda's death Christmas Day 1951.

She was actively involved for many years with the CNIB and took part in the activities, including the camp each summer, having been declared legally blind in the 1960's. Laura had problems with her eyes all of her life and this is noted in early pictures of her.

Laura had a stroke in her 80's, followed by a series of smaller strokes, leaving her paralyzed until her death. Her husband, Ray died one year later. They had only one child, Clifford.

Notes for RAYMOND ARTHUR MORSE:

Raymond Arthur Morse, "Tink" to all who knew him, was a paperer and decorator. He was not a man of great physical stature, but that didn't seem to stop him from climbing about on ladders and roof tops while he worked.

He enjoyed hunting when younger and is seen in a number of the old photos of the annual moose and deer hunt.

During WWII he served in the Militia as a cook.

For a time, until he was nearly killed in an accident in Tillsonburg, he worked for the county roads department. Following the accident he retired, which was timely as his wife Laura was going blind. Until her death Ray continued to look after her as well as his father, Linwood, with whom the couple lived in Richmond for many years.

Generation 6 (con't)

Notes for CLIFFORD ORLANDO MORSE:

Clifford Morse was born in Elgin County, to Laura Williams. Elizabeth, Raymond's mother would not agree to the marriage and although Laura was pregnant she would not give her blessing. The couple therefore were not married until after Raymond turned 21. Ray then legally adopted his own son.

Clifford was a very tiny baby and was fed goats milk and set on the warming oven of the wood stove. It was touch and go for several weeks as to whether he would survive the first months of his life.

Clifford attended school in Aylmer, Ontario and began work after a first year at high school. He was employed as a sand blaster and steeple jack, helping to construct and acting as foreman on several airports, including St. Thomas, Clinton and Aylmer.

When World War II began, Clifford enlisted, but twice his employer asked the government to let him return to work, because of the nature of the work he was doing. The third time he simply could not face the community if he did not stay in the army.

Clifford was known for occasionally having a temper that matched his red hair and although he made the rank of Sgt. during the war, he returned home a private.

During the war he ran supplies, including ammunition to the front and also served as a dispatch rider. While in England he contracted his first bout of pneumonia that eventually lead to the emphysema that cut his life short. He was in hospital for the D-Day invasion and always said that he regretted that he missed that battle.

Clifford and Betty had known one another during their school days and met again after the war. Betty was then divorced from her first husband and they married in July 1947.

Clifford and his chum through school and army days, Clarence (Fuzz) Hoover set up shop in Aylmer. Fuzz was a class A mechanic and with his assistance and his experience and training in the war Clifford obtained his Class "B", auto body license in very short order.

Betty, Cliff and their oldest daughter, Suzanne moved to London and just after the birth of their second daughter, Elizabeth in March of 1952, the doctor advised for Suzanne's health that the family needed to move to a drier climate.

In July of 1952 they packed up and moved to Calgary where they lived until the summer of 1961, following the death of Betty's brother Kenneth.

The family bought a home in Byron, now part of London, Ontario in 1963 and their third child, Mark, was born in 1965.

Clifford left work in the body shop in the early 1970's, due to his health and recommendations from Veterans Affairs. Until his retirement in May of 1986 he worked at Westminster Hospital, a Veterans Hospital in London, Ontario.

He also served for a time as sexton at St. Anne's Anglican Church in Byron, where the family attended and where his wife was organist and choir director.

One of his fondest passions was dancing, which he did until his breathing simply would not allow it anymore. He danced to many of the Big Bands of the 30's and 40's in Pt. Stanley at the Stock Club and shortly before his death he and Betty attended a Big Band Festival on the site of the old Stork Club.

Clifford had a great sense of humor and he loved to whistle, a trait his granddaughter Melissa seems to have inherited. He was not interested in hunting and fishing, but he loved nature. He had a fondness for animals, especially horses and as he became more and more unable to get about, he developed a love of bird watching, which he could do from the sun room of his home.

In 1988 he and Betty bought a house in Sparta, Ontario with their older daughter Suzanne and remained there, with the exception of a period of one year when they were in South Carolina, until his death.

The last year of his life saw a marked change in him; it was not a change he welcomed. He was unable to walk and was forced to use a wheel chair. His need for oxygen was constant and he went no where without the portable tanks. He always maintained his sense of humor though, which I think helped those around him adjust to what was happening. He and mom had asked me to arrange for a lawyer to draw up their wills. I had put this off, I think because I knew what would happen when they did. In early June I brought them in to see someone and the lawyer kindly came out to the car to go over it with dad, since he simply could not manage the stairs. On a Saturday morning, June 24, 1995, after letting mom know he was having trouble breathing and he needed an ambulance, he died quietly in his bed, less than a month after seeing the lawyer.

He is buried with his wife, Betty, her parents and his two brother-in-laws, in the Aylmer Cemetery.

Notes for BETTY CLAIR CARTWRIGHT:

Betty Claire Cartwright was the second oldest child of Charles and Annabelle (McLain) Cartwright. The family lived for most of Betty's life in Lyons, a small community north of Aylmer, Ontario.

Like Betty herself, her mother, Annabelle, had another child after she was forty. Betty was very close to her brother Calvin, although they lived a continent apart for ten years.

Betty attended school at Crossley Hunter, a brisk walk from home. She was considered to be a bright child and advanced ahead of some of the older students. Betty attended high school in Aylmer, but did not remain in school.

Betty began to study music as a young girl and was influenced and helped by her cousin, Blanche, known as "Babe", a lyric soprano who sang at the Chicago Opera House. Much of the early sheet music that the family has from the period came from Babe.

Betty play both the piano and the clarinet. She loved classical music, which was apparently not all that well received at home. They preferred that she played much "lighter stuff". Betty played in a band prior to the war and began studying classical music seriously after her marriage to Clifford, who did much to support her.

Betty Cartwright married Ray Miners when she was about 16 years of age. Their son David was born a year later. When the war came Ray enlisted and Betty went to work in a variety of factories, both in St. Thomas and in Toronto.

The couple were divorced at the end of WWII.

Betty then married Clifford Morse, known as "Red". They had known each other for some years before they began dating after the war.

Betty loved music all her life and studied through the Royal Conservatory. When the family moved to Alberta in 1952 she began to teach and was church organist for several years.

In April of 1961 Betty's brother Kenneth died and she and Clifford decided that they should return home. The family returned to Ontario in July 1961. Betty worked as secretary to the nursing supervisor at C.P.R.I. until she established her music class and was also church organist and choir director at St. Anne's Anglican Church in Byron.

She began teaching music at home and for the Separate School Board, giving private lessons in the school. She continued to work in the schools until the late 1980's. She retired in 1988 and moved with her husband and oldest daughter to Sparta, where she remained until her death after a very brief illness.

In the last ten years of her life she became very interested in the political life of Canada and would watch the debates from Ottawa and Queen's Park with avid interest.

As well, she had time to become involved in crafts which she loved and watching the birds from her sun room window. She loved history and genealogy, a gift she received from her father.

Betty died in St. Thomas Elgin General Hospital from a perforated esophagus which surgery could not repair. She entered hospital on the Thursday before Mother's Day and by Mother's Day was in ICU. A few days later she was having a dreadful time breathing and I recall how she looked at me, asking that we make it better and no one could. She died three weeks from the day she went to hospital. Her father, Charles died on her birthday in 1969. I wondered as she became more and more ill, if she was hanging on until after my birthday. We had often talked about how difficult it had been to lose her father on that day.

Betty is buried in the Aylmer Cemetery with her husband, her parents and her two brothers.

CLIFFORD ORLANDO MORSE and BETTY CLAIR CARTWRIGHT had the following children:

- i. SUZANNE MARIE<sup>7</sup> MORSE was born on 21 May 1948 in Yarmouth Township, Elgin County, Ontario. She married (1) JAKE LENDERS on 25 Oct 1969 in London, Ontario, Canada. Notes for Suzanne Marie Morse:

Suzanne attended the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario and graduated as a mature student in 1982 with a general BA.

She began working in 1967 at Victoria Hospital as secretary to the nursing supervisor of the operating room.

Sue married first to Jake Lenders, a friend from her teen years. They wanted a family, but due to medical reasons they were unable to have children following the death of their first child and Sue's cancer treatments.

Sue and Jake began working for the London Children's Aid Society in October 1972, running a group home for boys. Although Jake returned to nursing in 1974, Sue continued to work for London in various residential programs.

Jake and Sue separated and later divorced in 1976.

Sue remarried in 1979, however this union ended in 1983.

In 1982 Sue began work in the social work department with St. Thomas Family and Children Services and has been there since that time.
