

Wednesday, October 29, 2014

Local Connections to American Revolution Tell Harrowing Tale of the Early Settlers

On November 8 and 9, 2014, All About Books in Gananoque, Ontario will be hosting a two important events recounting the incredible history connecting the American Revolution to some of the earliest settlers along the St. Lawrence River - the United Empire Loyalists.

“We have been marked as traitors.”

On Saturday, November 8, 2014 from 7:00 – 9:00 pm, Author and Loyalist Descendant, Jennifer DeBruin will take the audience on a multimedia journey following the exodus of a Loyalist family from the frontier of the Mohawk Valley (New York) to the shores of the St. Lawrence River, the basis of her second novel, Shadows in the Tree (GSPH).

A popular speaker at many historical, literary, and community events, Jennifer will share the true events, and human stories, that continue to inspire her research and writing in her ongoing pursuit to “discover the humanity in the history.”

Event Details: Presentation, Q&A and Book Signing | 20 Seats Available | Free Event

Peter C. Newman and Debra Savoy, Owner, All About Books Internet Cafe

On Sunday, November 9, 2014 from 1:00 – 3:00 pm, legendary, award-winning author Peter C. Newman will be sharing insight into his upcoming book about the United Empire Loyalists.

A pioneer in journalism, Peter C. Newman has penned 25 books to-date on some of our most compelling history, selling millions of copies. This is a rare opportunity to meet with one of Canada’s premier authors.

Event Details: Talk about Upcoming Book, Meet & Greet
Free Event

Address & Contact:

Debra Savoy, Owner: thebooklady@aabooks.ca | Tel: 613-876-5729
Facebook Search: All About Books Internet Cafe
All About Books Internet Cafe | 126 King Street, E., Gananoque, ON